

Varnum Roundtable Luncheon

BASIC INSURANCE ISSUES FOR BANKS

In today's economy, many banks are dealing with property issues on a scale never before seen. Along with the headaches of managing properties and protecting the bank's investments, banks today find themselves dealing with a myriad of insurance issues. We invite you to join Varnum attorneys in a roundtable discussion on the basic insurance issues that may arise in relationship to these issues.

Issues to be discussed include:

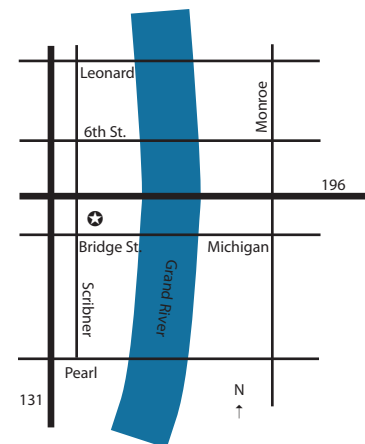

- How do these various insurance policies work, and can they work together?
- Who covers what, and why?
- What happened to the AIG TARP money?

This roundtable discussion will help you understand some basic insurance issues, and hopefully provide to you the information that you need to make decisions regarding coverage as you move forward.
